MR THOMAS'S POPULAR CONCERTS. MR THOMAS'S POPULAR CONCERTS.

The fifth of Mr. Thomas's Popular (Young People's) matiness at Steinway Hall yesterday afternoon was an unusually successful affair. The programme was made up of the greater part of transcriptions for orchestra of works composed originally for the pianoforte but the music was good and the transcriptions served to show that marvellous perfection of technique and the brilliancy of tone-quality which are the most noticeable qualities of Mr. Thomas's band. Such playing as was done in Liszt's second polonise, in which the original planoforte effects were reproduced with bewildering skill, and in Moszkowsky's first suite, (a charming composition which grows in beauty with each new hearing) is quite phenomenal, and deserves such unstinted and unaffected admiration as was bestowed upon it yesterday.

of the afternoon was novelty overture to an opera, "Le Rol Ys" composed by Lalo, the exceedingly clever and somewhat eccentric French musician. The opera, we believe, has never been performed; its overture is a highly-colored and vivid composition and ture is a highly-colored and vivid composition and deserves to become a permanent addition to Mr. Thomas's vast and varied list. The andante and Scherzo from Shubert's sonata for four hands, op 140, as orchestrated by Joachim left a mixed impression. The andante is timidly scored in an old-fassion. The andante is timidly scored in an old-fassion. The andante is timidly scored in an old-fassion of the contrary, is full of life and vigor, the scherzo, on the contrary, is full of life and vigor, and would make a splendid symphonic movement. The and would make a splendid symphonic movement. The sonata was composed in June, 1824, according to a memorandum by Schubert on the autograph maanseript which is (or was) in the possession of Clara Schumann, to whom (as Clara Wieck) it was inscribed by the publisher Diabelli, when he printed it in 1838.

TRIUMPH OF THE WAR PARTY.

ANXIETY CAUSED BY THE CZAR'S ACTION. BERLIN AS A FINANCIAL CENTRE-LATEST NEWS

FROM SAN REMO.

Copyright; 1888: By The New York Associated Press. BERLIN, Jan. 14 .- A semi-official statement is issued from St. Petersburg to-night with reference to the failure of the Czar to make a speech at the New Year reception. The assertion is made that the Czar has not been in the habit of making any political statement on that occasion. This is only partly true. Both the late and the present Czarshave been wont to make a short address of a semi-conversational character to the diplomatic Yesterday evening the Czar pointedly refrained from conversing with General Von Schweinitz, the German Ambassador, and Count von Wolkenstein Trostburg, the Austrian representative At one period of the reception the Russian generals and Ministers grouped themselves around the Czar, expecting an important utterance. His Majesty, after whispering a few minutes with M. de Giers, turned to the others and formally offered the congratulations of the season. Then he singled out Minister Wishnegradski, M. Pobiedonosteff and Secretary of State Ostrooski for a private talk.

The incident is considered an intimation that the war party triumphs. Among the list of honors conferred Panslavists alone are favored. The list of decorations leaves the impression in Berlin and Vienna official circles that the Czar is hopelessly under the command of the aggressives. " The Moscow Gazette" to-night says that on the nineteenth day aft r the Epiphany (Russian style) the Czar will preside at a grand military fete, when he will declare his policy. The Czar's action in osing a military fete as the occasion to make this declaration has increased the feeling of dis-AUSTRIANS ORDERED OUT OF POLAND.

The Warsaw police have issued orders that all Austrians who have not permits to reside in Poland must quit Russian territory to-day. All Polish officers are being removed from the frontier regiments and sent to take commands in the interior. On the German and Austrian sides the movements are kept a profound secret, but it is impossible to conceal the fact that there is an active passage of broops from Posen to the Silesian frontier. The Vien-Wehr Zeitung," the military organ, states that Russia has a force of 100,000 cavalry on the frontier, so organized as to act independently of the infantry, which is ready to penetrate into Galicia at a moment's notice to impede the mobilization of Austrian troops.

The latest advices from San Remo declare that the reports that the Crown Prince's malady had taken an unfavorable turn are untrue. MRS VANDERBILT'S MUSICALE.

One of the most notable entertainments given in man years was the musicale which took place at the house of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, No. 1 West Fifty-seventh-st., yesterday afternoon. The guests passed into the house under an awning which had been transformed into a winter garden. The immense hall represented a garden of spring flowers, with beds of tulips and hyacinths The main rooms on the Fifth-ave. side of the heuse, finished in white and gold, were decorated with daisies and lilies. The chief feature of the grand hall is the reproduction of Gobelin tapestry, a veritable cloth of geld, which is said to have cost $30,000. On this piece of tapestry are worked in silver and delicate blue and sea-green metal threads, scenes from "The Æneid."

The magnificent dining-reem, the art gallery and the Turkish smoking-room were decorated with palms, ferns and orchids. In the dining-room there are no chandeliers, but above the skylight is a row of gas jets, which east a n'ellow light through stained glass jewels upon the silver and glass of the table below. The heavy beams of the ceiling are inlaid in mother-of-pearl in a Grecian pattern and the high mastel has an exquisiteinlaying of pure silver, mother-of-pearl and ebony. The breakfast room was also decorated with erchids.

The music was charming throughout, the artists being young Josef Hofmann, Fraulein Lilli Lehmann, Miss Nettie Carpenter, the violinist, and Signor Saplo, accom-Young Hefmann had three numbers out e panist. GOOD EFFECTS OF HIGH LICENSE.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14 (Special).-The four Judges who are to pass upon the issuing of liquor licenses under the High License law are defining the law distinctly. The most important sule is that the surety must live in the ward where the business is conducted. In some of the wards there are few individual owners of real estate living, notably the Sixth, where there are at present 266 taverns and only forty-four resident property owners. This will certainly cause a marked rease in the number of saloons after June next, when the present license expires. It is stated that some of the brewers are transferring property to other citizens in order that they may go upon the bonds of favorn keepers as the law forbids the acceptance of browers or stockholders in browing concerns as bonds THE WEEK IN SOCIETY. A LIVELY TIME FOR RECEPTIONS.

WHAT SUCH ENTERTAINMENTS MEAN-THE ASSEM-BLY AND VARIOUS WEDDINGS.

The last week in society possessed all the character-istic features of this season of the year. There was one large public ball (the 22d Regiment at the Metro-politan Opera House; a semi-public ball at Delmonlco's; one or two numerously attended dances at private houses, and numberless minor affairs, such as receptions, formal luncheons and dinners. It is in these lesser entertainments that January particularly abounds. After the first week in this month, in the course of which the holiday festivities, both public and private, come to an end, the average woman of fashion begins the task, more or less agreeable, of paying off her social obligations to several hundred people whom she has not asked to dine, and does not mean to ask. How to accomplish the greatest amount of good for the greatest number with the least amount of trouble (for herself) is the problem that confronts her, and a reception or a tea (they are about the same thing) is the usual solution. In chronological order, this decision is reached about the last of December; but it bears fruit only in January. Yet despite the frequency with which they are given, teas and recepns, it must be confessed, are not the most popular entertainments in New-York, either with women or men. Like all day affairs, they are attended chiefly by ladles, since the men "don't get uptown" early enough to go. But they are greatly improved where they are followed by an impromptu dance in the even In most cases, to be sure, the hostess has asked her best friends long enough in advance to secure a good attendance, but during the afternoon she finds opportunity easily to add to her numbers, by inviting such callers as have made themselves particularly agreeable, or such as she wants to favor. of it all is, that a pleasant dance begins and ends in that house once a year at least at a sensible hour. The moral to be drawn is that reception and dinner dances are social diversions based on sensible ideas, and ought to be encouraged by all sensible people. Among the many teas and receptions of the week were those given by Mrs. Alfred M. Hoyt, No. 934 Fifthave., Mrs. H. O. Armour, No. 856 Fifth-ave., Mrs. Wray, No. 748 Fifth-ave., Mrs. Robert Hoe, No. 11 East Thirty-sixth-st., Mrs. Edward Johnes, Clarendon Hotel, Mrs. John A. Ford, No. 507 Fifth-ave., Mrs. John Zerega, No. 38 West Forty-eighth-st., Mrs. H. Ladew, No. 813 Madison-ave., Mrs. T. C. Lyman, No. 8 East Sixty-fifth-st., Mrs. Hunter, No. 28 East Fortysixth-st., Mrs. Cornellus Vanderbilt, No. 1 West Fiftyseventh-st., Mrs. C. W. Griffith, No. 17 West Fortyeighth-st., Mrs. Edward Adams, No. 455 Madison-ave Mrs. F. H. Howell. No. 45 West Forty-sixth-st., Mrs. Henry G. Leavitt, No. 1 East Fortieth-st., Mrs. E. R. Robinson, No. 23 West Eighty-ninth-st., Mrs Allen 12 East Thirty-seventh-st., and Mrs. D. S. Riher, Thursday was undoubtedly the most interesting day of the week from a social point of view, because Miss Katharine Taylor Winthrop and Hamilton Fish Kean were married in Grace Church in the afternoon, and Second Assembly Ball was danced at Delmonico's in the evening. Grace Church lends itself well to fe tive occasions, and this wedding of two young people of particularly good family for at least three generations, as indicated by their names), was a pretty affair. The crowd of wen-dressed guests was a conspicuous feature of it; but the bride in white satin and point sace was the most charming of all. Six pretty bridesmaids in light blue and a group of ushers, together with the bride's father Robert Winthrop, completed the bridal party. The Bishop of the diocese and Dr. Huntington read the marriage service, keeping time to soft music. After the ceremony there was a comparatively small reception at No 118 Fifth-ave., because the bridegroom's family are in mourning for the recent deat ; of Mrs. Northcote, his cousin. Some of these reception guests, as well as the bridesmalds, met later at the ball at Delmonico's. This Assembly was no less successful than its predecessor of a few weeks are at this dance, where the tollets and the exclusive ness of the guests make up for all deficiencies of that kind. Mrs. Sheidon, Mrs. Minturn, Mrs. Toler, and Mrs. Gerry received the guests' bows as they entered. The place was not crowded at any time, and dancing was thus agreeable. Everybody and everything was late, especially the cotillon, led by J. Frederick Tams. Mr. Tams did not break into a sailor's hornpipe at any time, as it was hoped he would do, to lend rare novelty to the figures. The music was good, and so was the supper-two essentials of success that the shrewd managers take care to guarantee. The next of these assemblies, under the ladies' management, will occur on February 9.

Marrying was kept up pretty briskly all during the week, an early start having been taken on Monday at noon by Henry Belknap and Miss Isabel Gardiner, in foreign loans, a proof that the financial centre of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. There were no bridesmaids, and the bride walked into the church with her brother. C. A. Irince, of Boston, was best man, and M. P. Slade and A. F. Townsend were ushers. Only intimate friends witnessed the ceremony which the Rev. D. Parker Morgan performed with his usual diffusive effectiveness. At 3 p. m. the same day, in the Church of St. John the Baptist, there was another wedding the bride of that hour being Miss Edith Landon and the bridegroom Cornelius R. Duffil, son of the rector. The bride were white satin trimmed with lace, and carried white roses. The two bridesmalds were in white surah, and their bouquets were of pink roses. > The wedding of most interest on Tuesday was that of Dean Hoffman's daughter, Miss Mary L. Hoffman, and the Rev. Thomas W. Nickerson, jr., now rector of an Episcopal Church in Paterson, N. J., but at one time a popular and devout assistant at Calvary Church in this city. The ceremony was performed with a goo man read the principal part of the service, assisted in places by the Rev. Dr. Dix and the Rev. Mr. Nickerson, sr. It is not often that a bridal couple has ooth its fathers-in-law on hand to read the marriage service. The blushing bride of the seminary was white satin-a high-necked dress, not usual in bridal tollets, but none the less becoming on that account. A great many guests were at the church, and also at the reception which followed later at the Dean's residence in the depth of the Theological Seminary over by Ninth-ave.

> Wednesday was the wedding-day of Miss Isabel Marie Day, daughter of the Rev. Henry S. Day. This lady was married to John D. Dent, of Rochester, N. Y., at her father's house, No. 57 East Seventy-fifth st. She wore white faille francaise, and her maid of honor, Miss Nellie Day Sugden, was dressed in pink slik and carried a basket of pink flowers. The best man was from Rochester (Mr. Hess), and there were four ushers from various parts of the country. After the ceremony there was a small reception at which many prominent Baptists were present. This was an evening wedding.

Dances were given last week by Mrs. Lyman, No. 8 East Sixty-fifth-st.; Mrs. Henry S. Kingsley, No. 16 West Twenty-seventh-st.; Mrs. Lucien B. Chase, No. 481 Fifth-ave.; Mrs. J. J. White, No. 560 Fifth-ave.; Mrs. Peck, No. 111 East Thirty-fourth-st.; Mrs. Sackett, No. 121 East Tenth-st., and Mrs. J. Hood Wright, No. 584 Fifth-ave. This last was a charming ball, numerously attended by fashionable people in the banking and foreign exchange line. The was beautifully decorated, and the music and refreshments were all that any one could ask for.

Among the minor incidents of the week were dinner and luncheons given by Mrs. Barbey, of No. 616 Fifthave., Mrs. Robert Minturn, No. 27 West Thirty-thirdst., Mrs. James W. Otis, No. 22 East Tenth-st., Mrs. Pearson, No. 3 West Fifty-seventh-st., Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, No. 72 East Thirty-fourth-st., Mrs. William Starr Miller, No. 3 Fifth-ave., and Mrs. W. BENSON BUST WITH THE COURTS.

FLEASED FROM JEFFERSON HE IS TAKEN BEGORE THE PEDERAL COURT-HELD FOR FORGERY. Harry Benson, the Mexican forger, was arraigned at Jefferson Market Court yesterday morning before Judge White. Peter Mitchell appeared for the accused, and asked for his discharge on the ground that no evidence sufficient to hold him had been adduced.

Justice White concurred and discharged Benson. "I suppose he will be rearrested as soon as he leaves the court room," said the lawyer to the Judge. "I have no power to prevent such a thing," smil-

Mr. Mitchell's prophecy proved true. Detectives were on hand with a warrant and took Benson immedi-ately to the office of United States Commissioner hields to arraign him for extradition. After a lengthy enference it was decided to draw up a charge forgery against him. Consul-General Juan N. Navarro, the representative of the Mexican Government in this city, will be the complainant. The prospects of holding Benson are dubious. The charge of forgery will be based upon the letter pre-sented to Manager Orrin, of the Capital Circus, City of Mexico. That letter, which was forged, was the one which introduced him as Marcus R. Mayer and secured him the authority to sell the tickets. With rare cunning, however, Benson, on the pretext of having mislaid his letter of introduction to Thomas C. Manning, the then United States Minister to Mexico, ecured the forged letter from Manager Orrin for pre Manning, the then United States Minister to Mexico, secured the forged letter from Manager Orrin for presentation to the American Minister. The forgery thus returned to the maker's hands and is now of course destroyed. Mr. Abbey and Mr. Mayer, who were present this morning, said that they were prepared to testify to the fact that the letter was a forgery. This, however, will scarcely serve to hold Benson, as neither the letter nor Orrin can be produced.

Benson was taken to the Federal Building early in the afternoon and was held until 3 o'clock to await the drawing of a complaint. De Lancey Nicoll, the prosecutor of the bribery cases, was sent for to appear against Benson. The case was taken before Commissioner Lyman, and an informal argument was had between Mr. Nicoll and Peter Mitchell as to whether a warrant should be issued.

Mr. Mitchell argued that the offence was not forgery, as only printed tickets had been issued. Mr. Nicoli argued that forgery might be committed by a printed ticket which, if genuine, would have created an obligation on Mr. Abbey's part. Commissioner Lyman after consulting many law books found a case in which the issuing of a false railroad ticket was declared a forgery at common law, and he decided that a warrant could properly be issued. Consul-General Navarro made oath to a formal complaint, and Benson was committed to the custody of Deputy Marshal Bernhard. He will be imprisoned in Ludlow Street Jall until Tuesday morning, when he will have a further examination before Commissioner Lyman.

WORKING FOR DUMB ANIMALS. SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR MR. BERGH'S SOCIETY-

EXTENT OF THE WORK. Henry Bergh, president, the freasurer, various committees of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, have submitted their reports In his letter Mr. Bergh says: "The con dition of our society in all respects admits of mutual congratulation, as the respective reports of committees prove." He remarks, however, that his health has not been good during the year, but that he has not been thereby prevented from discharging his duties to the best of his ability.

Treasurer Lanler, in submitting his report states that the total amount received during the year was $29,789 61, of which $5,000 was a bequest from the estate of C. B. Hosack. Total expenditures for the maintenance of the society amounted to $23,137 49, and the cash on hand, including balances from former years, to $24,102 19. Mr. Lanier thanks the generous subscribers who have helped on the good work, and ongratulated the society upon being free from debt.

The report of the Executive Committee states that in no period of the Society's history has the cause of animal protection made more satisfactory progress than during the twelve months which complete the twenty-second year of its existence. There are now forty-four societies of similar character in North and South America, of which thirty-five are in the United States, and the parent society has fifteen branches and 231 special agents distributed throughout this State. Superintendent Clark, of the Brooklyn agency is com mended for his zeal in reforming abuses in that city. His report shows that during the year he prosecuted 110 cases of cruelty in the courts; temporarily re-lieved from labor 219 disabled animals; humanely destroyed 734 horses that were disabled past recovery; disposed in like manner of 145 small animals; removed 140 injured horses from the streets in ambulances, and investigated 333 complaints.

was considerable stir in the court when Mrs. Biedenfeld was called to the stand. She told the story of the manner in which her husband received his injuries. She said that on the night in question her husband was in a bad humor and wanted to pick a quarrel with her. She described graphially how the scuffle occurred between her husban cally how the scuffle occurred between her husband and clerk Hahn and how he fell on the soap box. After he had taken sick witness got the doctor. On his arrival at the house, she heard her husband calling arrival at the house, she heard her husband calling her vite names but did not hear him say anything about the tussel. All their quarrels originated when her husband was under the influence of liquor. She was a good wife but seemed to be the object of the haired of her husband while he was intoxicated. She did all in her power to save him while sick and only met with rebukes.

The case was then adjourned till Monday evening when the young widow will resume the stand. As she was leaving the court room a Mrs. Linhauer, a neighbor, called Mrs. Biedenfeld "a murderess." The woman burst into tears and rushed back to Coroner Eidman and told him that she was the victim of female persecution even in the court room. The Coroner waxed indignant and reprimanded the women present for their unkindness.

A sequel to Friday night's fight between the two fac-tions of the Democratic party for the Chairmanship of the Democratic Committee of Hudson County, N. J., was unearthed yesterday. It involves Congressman McAdoo, and the friends of that gentleman are indignant. Th O'Neill faction employed some person in Washington to send begus dispatches to a number of prominent Demoerats in the county. All of the dispatches had Congressman McAdoo's name attached to them. One sent to the newly appointed postmaster, John F. Keliy, was as fol

ART AND NATURE IN DECORATION. The big hall in Cooper Union was comfortably filled with an appreciative audience last night to hear W. M. R. French, of Chicago, lecture on "Decorative Art." The lecturer mad crayon drawings to illustrate his remarks, showing the de-velopment of agricult art ornaments, especially the Egyptian, m plants, flowers, etc., first drawing the model and then the ornament; in this magner making it easy for any one totally uninformed to understand the relation of art to nature. He supplemented his art talk with one on the im portance of the outline rather than the details of drawings and paintings of all kinds.

OBITUARY.

THE REV. FATHER JAMES O'BEIRNE. The Rev. Father James O'Beirne, who died on Friday morning at Savancah, Ga., was one of the best known priests in Brooklyn. He left that city for Savannah about six weeks ago with his niece, Miss Coyne, to enter the St. Joseph Infirmary for treatment. He had been a long sufferer from cancer in the mose and had submitted to several operations, one occurring while in the infirmary. His death, it was said at the parish house in Brooklyn yesterday, was immediately due to liver troubles and general debility, resulting from overwork and insufficient care of himself. Father O'Beirne was born in 1828 in Roscommon County, Ireland, where he studied for the priesthood and was ordained.

Immediately after his ordination he came to this country and was for a time in one of the missions in country and was for a time in one of the missions in this city. It was there that he became acquainted with Bishop Loughlin and between the two churchmen a warm friendship sprang up. After the consecration of the Bishop, Father O'Beirne followed him to his diocese and for a time had charge of a caurch at Flushing, and for the last sixteen years worked almost uncasingly in the Brooklyn parish. He was the means of establishing St. Joseph's Academy. The body will be shipped on Wednesday and the completion of the funeral arrangements will not be made until its arrival in Brooklyn.

RUFUS M. TOWNSEND. TROY, N. Y., Jan. 14.-Rufus M Townsend the oldest practicing member of the Rensselaer County bar and brother of Martin I. Townsend, died to-day.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.-Charles D. Crutchfield, fo many years past the financial editor of "The Record," died at his home in this city shortly after midnight. He was thirty-eight years old and had suffered from a complication of diseases for the past two weeks. He leavs a wife and child.

GENERAL A R UNDERWOOD.

BOSTON, Jan. 14 (Special).—General Adin B. Under-vood died in this city this afternoon of pneunomia. Gen eral Underwood was born in 1828, and after studying at the Harvard Law School was just beginning a successful practice when the war broke out. He was at the time a resident of Newton and was among the most active of the citizens in encouraging recruiting, and was commissiened captain of the 2d Regiment, then being raised by General George H. Gordon, at Brookfarm. In July. 1862, he became major of the 331 Regiment, Massa-chusetts Volunteers, and in July of the same year was commissioned licutenant-colonel, and after the resignation of Colonel Maggi, in 1863, he was promoted to be colonel, and was in command at the battle of Gettysburg. The regiment took part in the battle of Leokout Menatain and Missionary Ridge, and in a desperate charge up the mountain in the face of roaring batteries Colonel Underwood was badly wounded. General Underwood after his retirement, led a quiet life, devoting his time to literary work. He was the author of a History of the 33d Massrchusetts Infantry.

PLANS FOR WEST SIDE RAPID TRANSIT. The walls of Parlor H in the Murray Hill Hotel were covered with the maps and plans of the New-York Arcade Railway last evening when Chairman Olmstead called the West-side Rapid Transit Committee to order. There was a large attendance of inventors, experts and prominent railroad men. General Egbert L. Viele moved the appointment of a committee to ask Mayor Hewitt's aid in the effort to secure rapid transit facilities for the West Side. General Eghert L. Viele, Cyrus Clark, James J. Coogan, William Belden, Colonel S. V. R. Cruger, together with the chairman, and Secretary Robert A. Van Wyck, were appointed.

Assistant Engineer B. F. Carpenter, of the Arcade Railway, then brought forward a plan to run an underground chamber railroad capable of containing four tracks up Broadway to Fifty-ninth-st. Above Fiftyninth-st., an open cut was proposed, running through the Boulevard, and across the Harlem River to Inwood. Another section was to branch off at Twenty-third-st. Another section was to branch off at Twenty-third-st. and run under Madison-ave. to the river. Mr. Carpenter said that the road from the Battery to Fifty-ninth-st. could be finished in eighteen mon he and put the cost at $21,000,000. General Manager Meiville C. Smith being called upon to state the financial condition of the company, made an eloquent speech, denouncing the "obstructionists" who have sought to prevent the building of the Arcade.

William Armory, representing the Astors, O. B. Potter and others, the plaintiffs in the two suits against the Arcade, spoke briefly. Caivin Goddard, representing the Vogel and Wheeland Cable Company, exhibited a model, showing how their inventions could hibited a model, showing how their inventions could be operated in a seven-inch conduit. R. W. Blackwell advocated the Benley Knight Electric Railway, which he said was in operation in Pittsburg and Allegheny

The Prudential Insurance Company, of Newark, N. J., is a remarkable institution in more ways than one. Its twelfth annual statement, which is published on another page, indicates the remarkable growth which this company has enjoyed. In twelve years its income has increased from $14,543 10 to over three millions of dollars. The first year the company issued 7,905 policies, and the twelfth 495,998.

The Prudential is an invaluable help to the poor and middle classes. It paid in death claims during the year 1887 alone, nearly one million of dollars. In addition to this great benefit it is working a revolution among the working classes in fostering habits of thrift and foresight which redound to their profit in numerous ways. That they appreciate its relation to them is shown from the fact that about three-quarters of a million of persons hold policies in this company.
